[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Washington. D. C., March 25.—An interesting interview with Representative Hay was printed here this afternoon. He declared emphalically in favor of a committee on committees, and said that he would make a fight for such a committee in the next House if the Democrats have a majority. Among other things, he said:
"Much has been said by members and in the press to the effect that "the system" by which Cannon has exercised such a dominating and controlling influence own the legislation in the House has been killed by the action of the House in depriving him of his membership on the Committee on Rules. In reality, such is not the case. That action was like cutting off the tip end of the tail of the snake, and it went just about that far in curtaling the Speaker's powers.

"The Speaker farws the great body of his power from his privilege of naming the members and chairmen of the committees of the House.
"To my mind it is perfectly obvious that the only way to make the Speaker was received by the last Legislature, if a was necessary."

Sir Ernest Shackleton Interviewed on Antarctic Explorations.

New York, March 25.—"I have almost no doubt that Captain Scott's expedition will reach the South Pole," declared Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer, when he stepped ashore to-day. "I have no intention," he added, "of heading any expedition to the South Pole while Captain Scott is trying to reach it."

The Brillish explorer, who was knighted not long ago for reaching the "point furtherest South," yet attained by civilized man, arrived with Lady Shackleton to-day on the Lusitania, During his stay here he will be the guest of the Transportation Club.

Burruss—Jackson.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized in the home of the bride Wednesday, March 23, when Miss Mary P. Jackson became the bride of Edward M. Burruss. The bride wore a going-away gown of blue mirage silk, with hat and gloves to match, and carried a bouquet of Bride roses and illies of the valley. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lilly Jackson, as maid of honor, and Ollie C. Burruss, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a Northern tour. They will be at home to their friends after April 5.
